

秉持循環工藝的設計理念，以鍛造門窗加工產生的不銹鋼方管餘料為素材，透過設計讓工業殘材重生，除了不銹鋼常見的拋光金屬光澤質感外，滾邊也特別在管材四周留下虛線紋理，增加幾何型態的視覺層次；兼具冷冽美感與環保精神，將其巧手轉化為生活中的實用物品。

Following the design concept of upcycled craftsmanship, TsungYuan repurposes stainless steel remnants from crafting forged doors and windows. The polished metal and unique dotted lines along the edges highlight the shapes and give them a clean, geometric aesthetic. With a blend of an austere quality and environmental care, these materials are transformed into practical items for everyday use.

海口腔 Hi Culture | 風吹葉語

梧棲為臺中最西濱海小鎮，昔為農漁村。隨著臺中港開港，地景與生活方式改變，讓那些曾深植入人們生活的濱海植物逐漸淡出記憶。本次選用木麻黃、稗仔樹、朱槿樹為圖騰作為設計元素，象徵庶民生活智慧。透過局部鏤空與花形構圖，讓這些植物意象在包裝間自然交疊，重現臺灣西部海線的生態樣貌與文化記憶。

Wuqi, once a small farming and fishing village, sits on the westernmost coastline of Taichung. After the opening of Taichung Port, the landscape and way of life changed, and those coastal plants slowly faded from memory. This design draws inspiration from the Horsetail Tree, Cuban Bast, and China Rose, reflecting local wisdom. Through partially open patterns and floral forms, the plant imagery emerges naturally in the packaging design, evoking the essence of nature and the cultural memories of Taiwan's west coast.

Embracing the concept of “Less is More,” this minimalist design functions as both a table clock and a wall clock. Instead of traditional hands radiating from the center, it features patent-pending clock hands that offer a unique expression of the passage of time. The number “1” is used as the minute hand to represent yang and movement, while “0” is the hour hand, symbolizing yin and stillness. As time passes, it reflects the balance and cycle between yin and yang.

Inspired by the connection between nature and daily life, this piece brings together marble from Taiwan's mountains and vegetable-tanned leather, shaped with care to fit comfortably in the hand. The coin purse is small but practical. The marble is strong and durable, while the leather will develop a natural patina over time. The contrast in textures highlights the richness of both nature and culture, like carrying a small piece of the mountains with you.
